How to use this file

A map of what you hold, where it is, and who to call. Five things decide whether it is useful on the day it is needed.

- 01 Fill it in slowly. Nobody completes this in one sitting. Start with banking, insurance and the location of original documents, which is what a family needs first, and come back to the rest.
- 02 Never write live credentials. No full passwords, no PINs, no card numbers, no CVVs, no OTP details. Record where the information lives (a password manager, a locker, a named person) rather than the information itself.
- 03 Store it the way you would store a will. A home safe, a bank locker, or an encrypted file with a passphrase your spouse or executor already knows. A copy sitting in an email inbox is not storage.
- 04 Tell two people it exists. A perfectly completed file that nobody can find has no value. Name a spouse, an adult child, or an executor, and tell them where it is and how to open it.
- 05 Review it once a year. Also after a marriage, a birth, a death, a property purchase, a change of residency status, or the sale of a business. Log each review on the final page.

A word on security. This file is valuable to your family precisely because it would also be valuable to someone else. Treat it as a map, not a set of keys. Every field in this kit is designed so that a person who finds it cannot transact with it, but a person you have briefed can act on it within a day.

What this is not. This kit is an organiser, not a legal instrument. It does not transfer assets, it does not override a will, and completing it is not a substitute for a properly drafted will, a trust deed, or up to date nominations. Where this file surfaces a gap, that is the point of it. Bring the gap to your adviser.

You and your family

Names, dates and identifiers as they appear on record. Small mismatches here are what delay claims later.

The people to call

In the first week, a family does not need advice. It needs a short list of numbers that answer.

EMERGENCY CONTACTS

If your family reaches only one number, make it this one. We will help them work through the rest of this file.

Keep this list shorter than you want to. Three names that will actually pick up at nine in the evening are worth more than twelve that might.

Banking and cash

Operating accounts first, then the ones that are easy to forget. Record the last four digits only.

ACCOUNT 1

Bank _____ Branch _____

Account type _____ Account number (last 4 digits) _____

Joint holder _____ Mode of operation (either or survivor / jointly) _____

Nominee _____ Branch phone _____

ACCOUNT 2

Bank _____ Branch _____

Account type _____ Account number (last 4 digits) _____

Joint holder _____ Mode of operation (either or survivor / jointly) _____

Nominee _____ Branch phone _____

ACCOUNT 3

Bank _____ Branch _____

Account type _____ Account number (last 4 digits) _____

Joint holder _____ Mode of operation (either or survivor / jointly) _____

Nominee _____ Branch phone _____

ACCOUNT 4

Bank _____ Branch _____

Account type _____ Account number (last 4 digits) _____

Joint holder _____ Mode of operation (either or survivor / jointly) _____

Nominee _____ Branch phone _____

Mode of operation matters more than balance. An account held "either or survivor" stays usable by the survivor. One held "jointly" freezes until succession is proved. It is a five minute change at the branch.

Foreign currency accounts, lockers and safes

The assets people most often lose are the ones nobody knew existed.

NRE, NRO AND FCNR ACCOUNTS

NRE / NRO / FCNR 1 ACCOUNT

Bank _____ Account number (last 4) _____
 Currency _____ Maturity or renewal date _____
 Nominee _____

LOCKER 2

Bank and branch _____ Locker number _____
 Key location _____ Persons authorised to operate _____

HOME SAFE OR FIREPROOF BOX

Location in home _____ Where the key or combination is kept _____
 Persons who know how to open it _____

Lockers need a nomination too. Under current RBI rules a locker agreement should carry a nominee or a survivorship clause. Without one, opening a locker after a death is a court driven process, whatever is inside it.

Protection and cover

Cover that keeps a family whole when something goes wrong, recorded so a claim does not depend on finding a paper policy.

LIFE INSURANCE

LIFE POLICY 1

Insurer _____ Policy number _____

Type (term, endowment, ULIP, whole life) _____ Sum assured _____

Premium and frequency _____ Premium due date _____

Policy term or maturity _____ Nominee and relationship _____

Agent or servicing branch _____

LIFE POLICY 2

Insurer _____ Policy number _____

Persons covered _____

Sum insured _____ Renewal date _____

Room rent or co-payment limits _____ Cashless TPA helpline _____

Corporate cover in addition (employer and sum insured) _____

Business and promoter interests

For most promoter families this is the largest asset on the page and the least documented.

ENTITY 1

Entity name _____ Type (Pvt Ltd, LLP, firm, HUF, trust) _____

CIN, LLPIN or registration _____ Your holding and role _____

Co-owners or partners _____ DIN or DPIN _____

Auditor or CA and contact _____ Company secretary and contact _____

Where the incorporation papers, share certificates and agreements are kept _____

Entity name _____ Type (Pvt Ltd, LLP, firm, HUF, trust) _____

CIN, LLPIN or registration _____ Your holding and role _____

Co-owners or partners _____ DIN or DPIN _____

Auditor or CA and contact _____ Company secretary and contact _____

Where the incorporation papers, share certificates and agreements are kept _____

CONTINUITY QUESTIONS

Who runs the business on day one if you are not there _____

Is there a shareholders agreement, buy sell clause or cross option in place _____

Personal guarantees you have given for the business (lender and amount) _____

Bank signatories and who can authorise payments _____

The gap that closes a business. Ownership usually passes cleanly. Control rarely does. If the answer to "who signs on Monday" is not written down, the operating company stalls at exactly the moment the family needs income from it.

Global assets and cross border

If any part of the family holds assets outside India, an adviser will ask for this page first.

FOREIGN ACCOUNTS AND HOLDINGS

OVERSEAS ACCOUNT 1

Institution and country _____ Account number (last 4) _____
 Currency _____ Account type (bank, brokerage, custody) _____
 Joint holder _____ Nomination or beneficiary designation in place _____

OVERSEAS ACCOUNT 2

Institution and country _____ Account number (last 4) _____
 Currency _____ Account type (bank, brokerage, custody) _____
 Joint holder _____ Nomination or beneficiary designation in place _____

OVERSEAS PROPERTY OR OTHER FOREIGN ASSET

Description and location _____
 Ownership structure (direct, joint, company, trust) _____ Approximate value _____
 Local adviser or agent _____ Where the title documents sit _____

REMITTANCES, STRUCTURES AND REPORTING

REMITTANCES AND REPORTING

Financial years in which LRS remittances were made, and roughly how much _____
 Bank used for outward remittance _____ Where Form A2 copies are kept _____
 Foreign assets disclosed in Schedule FA of the return (yes / no / who files it) _____
 GIFT City or IFSC accounts held (institution and purpose) _____

Two exposures worth naming. Foreign assets and income generally have to be disclosed in Schedule FA by a resident, whether or not any income arose, and the penalties for omission are severe. Separately, US situs assets held directly, including US listed shares held through many international investing platforms, can attract US estate tax above a low threshold for a non resident alien. Both are solvable with structure. Neither is solvable after the fact.

Borrowings and obligations

A family that does not know what is owed cannot judge what can be kept.

LOAN 1

Lender

Account number (last 4)

Outstanding balance and as of date

Interest rate and reset basis

Co borrower or guarantor

Loan type

Original amount

EMI and due date

Remaining tenure

Loan protection cover in place (yes / no)

LOAN 2

Lender

Account number (last 4)

Outstanding balance and as of date

Interest rate and reset basis

Co borrower or guarantor

Loan type

Original amount

EMI and due date

Remaining tenure

Loan protection cover in place (yes / no)

CREDIT CARDS AND REVOLVING CREDIT

ISSUER	CARD (LAST 4)	TYPICAL OUTSTANDING	STATEMENT DATE	AUTOPAY FROM

GUARANTEES, INFORMAL BORROWINGS AND DUES

Personal guarantees given (for whom, to whom, how much)

Money lent to family, friends or the business, and to whom

Money owed informally, and to whom

Property and vehicles

Title, lender and where the papers physically are.

IMMOVABLE PROPERTY

ADDRESS	OWNERSHIP AND SHARE	LENDER AND LOAN NUMBER	WHERE THE DEED IS KEPT

VEHICLES

MAKE, MODEL AND YEAR	REGISTRATION NUMBER	WHERE THE RC IS KEPT	LENDER OR HYPOTHECATION

Check the share, not just the address. Joint ownership, ancestral property and unregistered family arrangements are the three most common reasons a property cannot be sold when a family needs liquidity. Record what you actually hold.

Original documents and where they live

Tick what exists. Then write down, in one line, where the originals physically are.

- | | |
|--|---|
| ☐ Birth certificates | ☐ Share certificates (physical) |
| ☐ Marriage certificate | ☐ Vehicle registration certificates |
| ☐ Passports and visas | ☐ Educational certificates |
| ☐ OCI or PIO card | ☐ Medical records and prescriptions |
| ☐ PAN cards | ☐ HUF deed or partition deed |
| ☐ Aadhaar cards | ☐ Company incorporation papers |
| ☐ Driving licences | ☐ Partnership or LLP agreement |
| ☐ Voter ID | ☐ Immigration or residency papers |
| ☐ Property deeds and Index II | ☐ Death certificates of predeceased family |

LOCATION OF ORIGINALS

Primary location (safe, locker, adviser, home file) _____

Secondary or duplicate set _____

Certified copies held by (name and contact) _____

Digital scans stored at (drive, encrypted folder, who has access) _____

Certified copies save weeks. Keep at least ten notarised copies of the primary identity documents and, when the time comes, at least fifteen copies of the death certificate. Almost every institution will ask for its own set and will not return it.

Succession and intent

Structures that pass wealth on the way you intend, with as little friction as possible.

WILL

Does a will exist (yes / no) _____ Date of the current will _____

Where the original is held _____ Registered (yes / no) and where _____

Executor name _____ Executor phone and email _____

Witnesses and their contact details _____

Second will for overseas assets (jurisdiction and location) _____

TRUSTS AND OTHER STRUCTURES

Trust or structure name _____ Type (private family trust, HUF, foreign trust) _____

Trustees _____ Beneficiaries _____

Where the deed and amendments are kept _____

Assets that have actually been transferred into it _____

AUTHORITIES AND DIRECTIVES

Power of attorney (holder and scope) _____ Where it is kept _____

Medical or healthcare directive _____ Where it is kept _____

Guardian named for minor children, and alternate guardian _____

Person authorised to take medical decisions for you _____

A nominee is usually not an heir. Across bank accounts, mutual funds and shares, nomination generally lets the institution release the asset to a named person, who then holds it for the legal heirs under succession law. It is a discharge mechanism, not a transfer of ownership, and insurance is treated differently again. Keeping nominations current is still essential, because it decides who gets access first. Just do not mistake it for a will.

Digital life and access

The email address that receives every OTP is now the most important asset on this page.

ACCOUNT 1

Type (email, banking, cloud, social, domain, crypto) _____ Provider _____

Username or registered email _____ Recovery email or mobile _____

Where the password is stored (never write the password itself) _____

ACCOUNT 2

Type (email, banking, cloud, social, domain, crypto) _____ Provider _____

Username or registered email _____ Recovery email or mobile _____

Where the password is stored (never write the password itself) _____

ACCOUNT 3

Type (email, banking, cloud, social, domain, crypto) _____ Provider _____

Username or registered email _____ Recovery email or mobile _____

Where the password is stored (never write the password itself) _____

DIGITAL EXECUTOR OR LEGACY CONTACT

Name _____ Relationship _____

Phone _____ Email _____

How they obtain master access to the password manager (process, not passphrase) _____

Instructions for accounts to close, memorialise or keep running _____

Start with the primary email and phone number. Almost every financial recovery route runs through them. If your family cannot receive an OTP on your number or open your inbox, most of the earlier sections of this file become far harder to act on.

Recurring payments and tax

What leaves the account every month, and who prepares the return.

BILLS, SIPS, PREMIUMS AND SUBSCRIPTIONS ON AUTOPAY

SERVICE OR PAYEE	AMOUNT	DUE DATE	PAID FROM (BANK OR CARD)

TAX

FILING AND RECORDS

Chartered accountant or preparer _____ Phone and email _____

Income tax portal login is held by _____ Where past returns are kept _____

Advance tax pattern (dates and rough amounts) _____ GST registrations, if any _____

Foreign tax filings required (country, form, who prepares it) _____

Personal wishes (optional)

Anything you would want said or done that no document elsewhere would capture. Funeral preferences, charitable intentions, letters to be given to particular people, or the reasons behind a decision in your will.

Reasons prevent disputes. Where a will divides unequally, a short note explaining why, written in your own words, does more to keep a family together than any clause a lawyer can draft.

If something happens: the first thirty days

Written for whoever picks this file up. Follow it in order and do not rush the second column.

WEEK ONE

- ☐ Obtain fifteen or more certified copies of the death certificate
- ☐ Inform the SELEQT relationship manager and the family CA
- ☐ Locate this file, the will and the originals listed in Section 10
- ☐ Do not close or transfer anything in the first week
- ☐ Check for accounts operated "either or survivor" for immediate liquidity
- ☐ Intimate life and health insurers, most require notice within days

WEEKS TWO TO FOUR

- ☐ Notify banks, AMCs, the depository and the employer in writing
- ☐ Begin transmission requests with the death certificate and required forms
- ☐ Check for unclaimed dividends, matured deposits and IEPF transfers
- ☐ Review standing instructions, SIPs, EMIs and autopay mandates
- ☐ Confirm health cover for surviving family members continues
- ☐ Apply for succession certificate or probate only where actually required

Slow is correct here. There is almost no financial decision in the first month that improves by being made quickly, and several that are difficult to reverse. Claims, transmission and probate all have their own timelines. Sequence them with an adviser rather than in parallel.

Bring the gaps to us.

Most families who complete this file finish with three or four blanks they cannot fill and one or two answers they do not like. That is the useful output. A nomination that was never updated, a guarantee nobody knew about, a foreign holding that has never been reported, a business with no answer to who signs on Monday.

SELEQT brings investments, taxation, insurance and succession together under one roof, so families whose businesses and assets cross borders are not stitching advice together from four separate advisers. Bring the completed file, or the incomplete one, and we will work through it with you.
